

The G8R Series Padlock

Built to Thrive in Harsh Climates

With its tough, water resistant construction, the Medeco G8R Series is the padlock to choose for extreme environments like trailers, cargo containers, and gates.

The padlock body is constructed of solid stainless steel. You can choose either a stainless steel shackle for maximum corrosion resistance, or hardened steel to withstand severe physical attack. Each padlock includes a weather-seal cap attached by a steel cable. An optional finish plate is also included for applications that do not require a water resistant seal.

Benefits:
